

Are you a drought-affected farmer?

Help is here

This is a tough time for drought-affected farmers and their families. We are in the midst of one of the driest periods since comparable records began over a hundred years ago. Thanks to the generosity of the Australian community, the Red Cross Disaster Relief and Recovery Appeal 'Help Aussie Farmers' has raised more than $10 million and the Queensland Country Women's Association is now distributing funds to help affected farmers.

It's ok to ask for help.

If you're a farmer in drought-affected areas, we're urging you to apply for assistance of up to $5,000 from the Queensland Country Women's Association. Funds are available in the form of store vouchers/store credit or unpaid bills/accounts such as vehicle maintenance, school expenses, electricity, gas or rates, phone expenses, dental or medical expenses. The one-page application process is easy.

Due to tax laws, funds raised by the Red Cross appeal cannot be used to cover farm business expenses, such as machinery, fertiliser and feed. However, you can still apply to the Queensland Country Women's Association to have these expenses supported via other funding sources.

Here's what to do:

- Complete the application on the reverse of this flyer
